Child Care & Early Education Research Connections promotes high quality research and its use in policymaking by providing online access to thousands of journal articles, research reviews, government and think tank reports, and policy briefs through its free, easily searchable online database.

Research Connections regularly highlights current policy and research developments and resources as well as announcements of grants and events in the early care and education field through its biweekly e-newsletter (http://cceeresear.ch/RCLists) and on www.researchconnections.org. Through its website, Research Connections is the central access point for products of federally-funded early care and education research workgroups (http://cceeresear.ch/RCFedResearch), as well as a source for information on federal policies, programs, and technical assistance (http://cceeresear.ch/RCFedLinks).
